OUR WINES

Vegan-friendly wines

Various methods can be used to purify fermented wine, such as protein clearance. This process binds the solid particles in the cloudy wine to the protein, after which they can be removed. This gives wines their bright colour. However, this can also be done using bentonite, a clay-like substance that clarifies wine in the same way as animal clarifiers such as protein. Ideal for vegans!

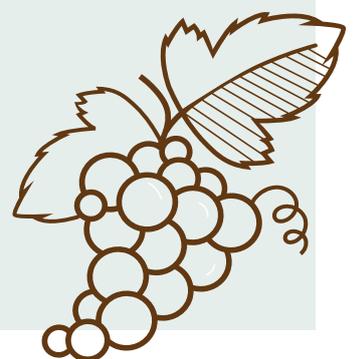

Terra Vitis

People and the environment are at the heart of the Terra Vitis concept. The preservation of nature occupies a very important place within this concept. However, the health of employees, neighbours of wineries and consumers is just as important. Terra Vitis focuses on three pillars of sustainable development: social, ecological and economic.
